PROTECT HITLER'S LIFE, BAN PLANES

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, April 18—In an unprecedented and unexplained order, the German government today banned the skies of Berlin to all civilian aircraft for a 25-hour period embracing Adolf Hitler's 50th birthday.

MIGHT of Britain on the sea is ably illustrated here, where sleek cruisers steam to Mediterranean. Today the fleets of four nations—Britain, France, Germany, Italy—were concentrated near Gibraltar, new trouble spot.

International News Photograph Service

From 7 p. m. tomorrow until 8 p. m. Thursday, at which time the ceremonies attending Hitler's birthday will have ended, no private or transport planes may fly over the German capital. A brief announcement of the order stated that any foolhardy pilots who violate it would be shot down by anti-aircraft guns.

Hitler arrived at the chancellery from Munich at 3:30 p. m. (9:30 a. m. E. S. T.). Twenty minutes later, Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering returned to Berlin from Rome, where he was in consultation with Premier Mussolini at the time President Roosevelt's "peace appeal" was received on Saturday.

The announcement gave no inkling of the reason for the ban, and there was no official indication it was connected with recent political events in Europe.

PROTECTING HIS LIFE?

It was noted by observers, however, that the ban coincided with the scheduled departure of 40 German warships for Spanish waters for "spring maneuvers."

(There were hints from other observers that the ban may be a precaution against a possible plot on Hitler's life. It was recalled that six Czechs were arrested in an alleged plot after Hitler's last public speech at Wilhelmshaven. For that address the Fuehrer appeared behind a bullet-proof glass screen).

Meanwhile, Hitler's action in summoning the Reichstag to meet April 28 to hear his reply to President Roosevelt's proposals was the subject of widespread speculation.

The Fuehrer is expected to reject the proposals advanced by the President and at the same time restate Germany's claims.

In addition, preparations went forward for celebration of Hitler's birthday Thursday amid rumors that some announcement regarding Danzig might serve as a birthday "gift" for him.

NO CONSCRIPTION, PARLIAMENT TOLD

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, April 18—Again rejecting moves toward conscription, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain assured the House of Commons today Britain is taking all essential military measures in view of the critical European situation.

Chamberlain took occasion to express Britain's interest in preserving the independence of Holland, Switzerland and Denmark "should any of these become victims of aggression," but declared that no specific engagements had been entered into in this regard.

THANKFUL TO F. D.

Chamberlain declined to answer Ellis Smith, Laborite, who asked:

"Is it the intention of the government to provide an early opportunity for the House to express its gratification over the initiative taken by President Roosevelt?"

This was a reference to the

Strike at Statler Leaves Hotel Dark, Elevators Stalled

More than 150 employes of the Hotel Statler walked out on strike today, charging that the management failed to negotiate with union representatives on a one-year agreement.

NEW TWIST—Flight descension in this manner is new to Air Stewardess Hallie Harp, as she smilingly walks down stairs of Hotel Statler because of strike.

The workers left the hotel in darkness, without elevator service and even with all the electric clocks stopped.

Assistant managers, clerks and other employes not affected were pressed into service as bellboys and porters, with flashlights being held for guests as they trudged up and down the stairways.

New guests checking in were assigned rooms as near to the ground floor as possible, but even this meant a climb of two long stairways to reach the first room-floor.

RESTORE LIFT SERVICE

Elevator service was restored shortly before noon—a lapse of less than eight hours—when repairmen from the Otis Elevator Company replaced wires.

The hotel management maintained the elevator service thereafter was by the regular operators, but the strikers claimed the lifts were run by employes licensed to operate but employed in other capacities in the hotel.

According to Robert H. Everitt, international representative of the Hotel Building Service Employes, a proposed agreement between the workers and the hotel management was presented to the management by union officials on April 7.

CLAIM PARLEY REFUSED

D. B. Stanbro, executive manager of the hotel, informed the union representatives, according to Everitt, that he would notify them of the date on which he would discuss the proposed agreement.

On April 12, Stanbro called these representatives in, Everitt said, and told them:

"There is no use in our getting together."

Stanbro, it is asserted, said he had "no further business" with the delegation because they were not representative of the workers.

"He closed the door to us so far as a possibility of negotiating was concerned," said Everitt.

Although the strikers claimed bellboys and operators were included among their number, this

Fitchburg Man Kills Himself

FITCHBURG, April 18—Robert M. Sherman, 58, prominent realtor and president and treasurer of the Fitchburg Phoenix Lighting Company, was found dead in the bathroom of his Summer street home today, police reported.

Dr. Cornelius E. Geary, medical examiner, reported Sherman had fired a bullet through his mouth, and returned a verdict of suicide.

The body was discovered by Miss Minnie K. Fohy, his private nurse. A .45-caliber gun lay at his side.

Miss Fohy, who had been on duty at the home since Sherman left Burbank Hospital two weeks ago, said she went downstairs to prepare some medicine, heard the sound of a shot and ran upstairs.

5000 Employers Must File UCC Data

More than 5000 employers have yet to file reports, required by April 30, with the Unemployment Compensation Commission, Director J. Edwin Doyle announced today.

Newly-listed employers with at least one employe are required to file an initial statement at the commission's central office in Boston. Blanks are now available at the 42 district offices throughout the state, Doyle said.

Strike of Oil Tanker Seamen Again Perils Fuel Supply Here

Strike of seamen aboard four arriving oil tankers today further menaced prospects of speedy solution of Greater Boston's fuel dispute.

The tankers, arriving this morning, stood idly at piers as officials of the National Maritime Union, CIO, conferred with four companies operating 132 tankers and employing 3800 seamen.

The strike was called in New York at midnight, but agreements were quickly reached with two major companies employing 1200 seamen.

Those still affected are the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, Socony Vacuum Company, Tide Water Oil Company and C. D. Mallory.

At Washington, strike leaders said they had promise of support from the full CIO organization in a letter from John L. Brophy, CIO director.

The Socony Vacuum tanker Algonquin arrived at the company plant in Quincy Point, but no fuel was unloaded pending outcome of a conference between union and company officials.

The Standard Oil tanker H. H. Rogers docked in Everett, but it was not learned immediately whether fuel would be unloaded.

Seamen walked off the White Fuel Company's tanker Frederick R. Kellogg in South Boston, and others quit the Vessel No. 2 at the Tidewater Oil Company's Revere dock.

While rainy weather doubled demands for emergency deliveries of coal and oil, an agreement between union representatives and the state necessaries of life department insured deliveries to all institutions, hospitals, schools, public utilities plants and homes where illness was reported.

Mrs. Eaton Reveals Rows About Money

Marital disagreements, piling one upon the other into an ever-mounting burden which, at last, drove them apart, were recited from the witness stand by Mrs. Olive C. Eaton of West Newton in Middlesex Probate Court today as she defended a divorce proceeding brought against her by James K. Eaton, wealthy printer.

FIGHTS SUIT—Mrs. Olive C. Eaton of Newton, right, leaves Middlesex court with her daughter after testifying at trial of divorce action brought by her husband, James K. Eaton, Hub printer, who claims she deserted him. Daughter, Margery, is expected to testify today.

Mrs. Eaton, who told the court yesterday of how she lived in at ent int he State of Washington while her husband brought in a homestead claim, said today that money seemed to be the reason for their quarreling.

She is the mother of five children. One, Agnes, is a graduate of Wellesley; Mary Alice is a graduate of Simmons and Margery, sworn as a witness for her mother, is a student at the exclusive Erskine school.

ABOUT MOTHER'S LOAN

James, a son, is at Harvard, and another son, John David, attends Exeter.

She was asked by her husband's attorney if, while living on a farm in New Hampshire, after the Washington episode, they had quarreled over money—specifically over $3000 allegedly lent to him by her mother.

"Isn't it true," the attorney said, "that your mother demanded $5400 from your husband after he had already paid back $2600?"

"I didn't know that," was the response.

"Didn't you say: 'Mother is justified?'

"I don't recall."

DENIES MOTHER SAID IT

"Didn't you say to your husband: 'You needn't be the father of my children any more'?"

"I never said that—I know my own heart."

They separated in September, 1929, and Eaton is seeking his freedom on the grounds of desertion. He has, it was said, been paying her $50 a week. The questioning continued:

"Didn't your mother say: 'Let him get out, he isn't fit to live with'?"

"My mother never said that."

"Didn't your husband leave shortly after that?"

"Yes."

"Didn't you send his clothes to him at that time?"

"No, not at that time."

NO JOY OVER STORK

"After your first separation, after a violent quarrel, and your husband was gone for days, didn't you get down on your knees be-

D. A. R. Explains Negro Singer Ban

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—Mrs. Henry M. Robert, Jr., president-general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, said today "there was no question of prejudice, personality or discrimination" involved in the D. A. R.'s refusal to let Marian Anderson, Negro contralto, sing in Constitution Hall.

Prominent musicians and organizations over the country protested when the singer was denied use of the D. A. R. auditorium here and she sang before an estimated 75,000 persons on the steps of the Lincoln Memorial Easter Sunday. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and several other women resigned from the D. A. R. following its action in the Anderson case.

Mrs. Robert told 3000 delegates and members at the D. A. R.'s annual meeting that the national board of management, of which 41 members, from all sections of the country, were present, voted for several reasons that no exception should be made for the Easter concert to the society's rule against Negro artists.

"That rule arose," she said, "because of unpleasant experiences in attempting to go contrary to conditions and customs existing in the District of Columbia."

'Pretty Pussy' Has Last Laugh On Quins' Dog

NORTH BAY, Ont., April 18 (INS)—Tony, the Great Dane watchdog at the quins' nursery, played a dual role. To the quins he was a hero; to the nurses and staff he was in disgrace.

Tony discovered a pretty striped "kitty" poaching on his preserve. In a brief battle Tony emerged the victor. "Quel brave chien," chorused Yvonne and her sisters.

But alas, no pats of praise from the nurses. The "pretty pussy" was that odorous prowler familiarly known as a skunk—and the nature study for the day was over.

TEACHERS-TO-BE—Pretty Delores Vanotti and Dorothy Kruszyna of North Adams Teachers' College attend State House hearing today in which abandonment of four of state's nine teachers' colleges is discussed.

REVEAL BIG DROP IN SCHOOL RANKS

Startling statistics, tending to indicate that the age group between 5 and 19 will have decreased in Massachusetts by 30 per sent in 1960, were given to the legislative committe on education today in support of demands that four of the state's nine teachers' colleges be abandoned.

More than 1200 spectators, many of them normal school students, filled Gardner Auditorium at the State House for the anticipated battle over Governor Saltonstall's move to close the four colleges.

ENROLLMENTS DROP

The figures, prepared by the Massachusetts State Planning board, tend to show that the number of young people in 1960 will have been reduced to 816,000 from a high of 1,143,809 in 1930.

School enrollments, it was stated, decreasing in direct proportion, have shrunk from 739,444 in 1933 to 697,287.

During the same period, however, it was pointed out, the number of teachers and principals have only decreased from 26,257 to 25,144, or 4.23 per cent as against a 5.7 per cent shrinkage in school attendance.

The teachers' colleges are operated at a deficit averaging $273

Knox Seeks to Prove Girl Suicide

She was sick, nervous, semi-hysterical.

She smoked cigarette after cigarette, and, her eyes burning, told the hospital social service worker that she had got drunk, and had jumped out a window.

"I got drunk," she was quoted as saying, "so it would look like an accident."

That was the first direct testimony so far offered at the trial of ex-Trooper George T. Knox, accused of the murder of Mrs. Helen Darragh Dale, pretty divorcee, that she had, once before, attempted to end her life.

He is charged with having shot her while in a Commonwealth avenue apartment they shared. Again and again the defense had tried to show she might have shot herself, but today came direct testimony of suicidal mania.

The witness who gave this testimony was Miss Elizabeth Zimmerman, of Morley street, West Roxbury, a social service worker at the Boston City Hospital. She was called to the stand by the defense attorney, James McGrail, and asked when, if ever, she had met and spoke to Helen Dale.

"It was in the hospital Jan. 19, 1936," she said. "I was referred to her by a doctor.

"I talked to her. She cried, and she smoked cigarette after cigarette. She was very nervous."

"Give us, please, the talk you had with her."

Miss Zimmerman, a pretty brunette, paused for a moment as if to collect her thoughts, then continued:

"She told me she had been drinking. 'I jumped out of the window,' she told me, 'and they found me on the fire escape of the first floor . . . I had made an attempt at suicide.'

"She told me further she got drunk so that when she was found it wouldn't look like a suicide, but an accident.

APPEARED CHEERFUL

"She told me, too, that she had been married—that she had married for a home, but that it did not go well. At the time of her discharge she was quite cheerful and she said she thought she could work out her own situation."

Customs Guard Dennis F. Driscoll was next called to the stand. He testified he lived in Nahant, across the street from the home of Mrs. Dale.

"One day," he testified, "I saw her across the street, sitting in the middle of a miniature golf course. She had a bottle beside her, and I knew she had been drinking. I helped her home."

Speaking of another occasion, he testified:

"Helen was in my house. The insurance man had just left. She asked my wife if the insurance policy covered suicide. My wife said she didn't know."

The earlier part off the session was enlivened by a clash between Masaad Ayoob, owner of a Huntington jewelry store, a defense witness, and Assistant State's Attorney Edward M. Sullivan.

Ayoob had testified previously that Mrs. Dale told him once that she wanted "to get a gun and end it all," and again that she had told him of efforts to buy cyanide of potassium so she might kill herself.

This testimony, tending to show that Mrs. Dale was inclined towards suicide and might hve shot herself while in Knox's apartment May 22, 1937, brought a barrage of questions from Sullivan during cross-examination.

ATTORNEY IN CLASH

At one point Judge Lewis Goldberg intervened, and cautioned the witness to be more temperate in his replies after a flareup in which he had defied the prosecutor to make him answer.

The questioning began quietly; then:

"Did you ever use the name of Sassawob?" demanded Sullivan.

"I did not," said the witness, smiling.

"What are you smiling at?" demanded Sullivan.

"I am wondering whether this is a murder trial or one of your dirty half-hours," rejoined the witness.

"Who said anything about dirty half-hours?" demanded Sullivan.

"You did," shouted the witness, "and you don't have to shout at me. Don't talk so loud. Don't be hollering at me. Who do you think you are. I am not used to that kind of talk."

At this point the judge intervened, and directed Ayoob to apologize, which he did.

RAYS ROUT CANCER IN BABY BOY

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, April 18—Two-and-a-half-year-old Harold Holt, Jr., of Monongahela, Pa., is a new question mark in medicine's fight on one of the inscrutable forms of cancer.

Harold Holt, Jr.

The question is whether he will be an example of hope for conquering one of cancer's incurable forms, known as Wilms' tumor.

Hardly more than a month ago he had this cancer in lungs, liver and his one remaining kidney. He was discharged from a Pittsburgh hospital with the probability of living two weeks.

Today there is no cancer to be found in any of his organs, and he has been discharged from another hospital, apparently with years to live.

But how many years is not known. Whether the cancer will come back is not known. There are chances it may not recur, and then medicine hopes it will know better what to do in other cases.

In both hospitals Harold received the same treatment, X-rays. In the second institution, the New Rochelle hospital near here, he received virtually the same kind of X-rays as before.

But a different technique was used, mainly a difference in the sharp-shooting with the rays. They destroy any tissue, and the problem is to destroy cancer without damaging healthy tissue. The X-rays are slow bullets and experts are constantly developing more skill in 'shooting' them.

Wilms' tumor has its origin in a growth known as teratoma, which is in the body at birth. Sooner or later it begins to grow. There are fewer than a dozen cases reported cured. X-rays have frequently reduced the growth, but almost invariably it has struck again.

MADDEN RAPS NLRB CRITICS

WASHINGTON, April 18 (INS)—The National Labor Relations Board today struck back at its critics as "bitter-enders" who have "never become reconciled to the liberties which the (Wagner) act confers upon American workmen."

Chairman J. Warren Madden of the board, testifying in opposition to proposed amendments to the Wagner Act before the Senate labor committee, entered a blanket defense of the NLRB's administration of the Wagner Act.

The board, he said, has never shown favoritism to CIU unions, as charged repeatedly by the American Federation of Labor, nor is it prejudiced against employs.

Lay 'Torso' Slaying To Anatomy Expert

BALTIMORE, April 18 (AP)—Pathologists were called in today to begin a gruesome, piecemeal reconstruction of the dissected body of an unidentified young woman believed to have been butchered by a killer skilled in anatomy.

Judge Emery H. Niles said Dr. Charles W. Wood, coroner, who had objected to "high falutin" methods, had agreed to accept the co-operation of Dr. Frank B. Kindell, city hospitals pathologist, and Dr. C. G. Warner, University of Maryland pathologist, "in order to uncover, if possible, any evidence of crime."

Police still were without any clue to the identity of the victim, parts of whose body have been picked up in sewers in East Baltimore since Friday. Only the head and parts of the upper torso now remain to be found.

A search for a brown sedan was begun after Mrs. Bernarding Brockmeyer, a housewife, reported seeing occupants of the machine dump a paper-wrapped bundle in an east side sewer where sections of the body were recovered three hours later.

"A smart murderer wouldn't even have chosen that part of Baltimore to dispose of the body," said Detective Captain John A. Cooney. "He would have thought of the fact that children play in the streets all the time and climb down the sewers."

Edgar May Seek Third Balm Trial

MIAMI, Fla., April 18 (AP) — James Edgar said he would confer with his attorney today to decide if he should press for a third trial of his $300,000 heart balm suit against Lewis E. Mallory, 3d, young Bradford, Penn., oil heir.

A jury considered for seven hours the evidence presented at a retrial and shortly before midnight last night informed the court it was hopelessly deadlocked.

Sun Eclipse Due Tomorrow!

If the sun does show up tomorrow, it will be partially hidden by the moon from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m. locally, as a total eclipse sweeps over Alaska and the arctic coast of Russia, astronomers announced today.

If New Englanders are lucky enough to see the sun about noontime, they may observe the partial eclipse through smoked glasses, but the decrease in sunlight wil not be apparent to the naked eye, a spokesman at Harvard Observatory pointed out.

If Paul Revere
Would ride today
He'd leave his hoss
A' munchin' hay
And get behind a steering wheel
And cover miles with speed and zeal.

And you could bet
That Paul so wise
Would trust to Jenney Solvenize
To carry him fast
And carry him far
Ahead of any British car.

He'd take no chance
That he'd be foiled
His car would be
All Solvenoiled
And Jenney service men would stand
Ready, alert—grease guns in hand.

For Jenney men
Are Minute Men
That rush to do your bidding.

Al Capone Seeks His Freedom in 4 Weeks

LOS ANGELES, April 18 (AP)—Al Capone may win his freedom in four weeks.

Federal Judge Harry Hollzer took under submission today a petition for a writ of habeas corpus submitted by Capone's Chicago lawyer.

The latter, Abraham Teitelbaum, contends Capone's 11-year sentence for income tax evasion began in Chicago, Oct. 24, 1931, and with allowances for good behavior he should have been released March 12.

Maurice Norcop, deputy United States attorney, argued Capone's term did not begin until he was placed in the Atlanta federal prison, May 4, 1932, and that he is not entitled to freedom until November 18.

He argued also that Capone is due 1200 days off for "good time" instead of the 1320 claimed by Teitelbaum, and pointed out that $20,000 of his $50,000 fine remains unpaid.

Should Capone take a pauper's oath, he could compensate for the unpaid portion of the fine by serving an additional 30 days.

side his chair and say that you weren't worthy?"

"No, I have no recollection of it."

"Were you happy in 1921?"

"Yes."

"You weren't pleased, though, at the coming of the stork?"

"No, I wasn't pleased."

"Didn't he get a car and take you riding?"

"Yes."

"Didn't you tell your husband at the breakfast table every morning that your sister had maids?"

"No."

MECHANICAL GIFTS

She was then asked if it were true that when they lived in Winthrop he had bought for her an oil burner, a refrigerator, a grinding and mixing machine, a washing machine, a player piano, a radio and an automobile.

"They were bought without my knowledge," she rejoined.

"You knew he was on the verge of bankruptcy at the time?"

"No, I didn't know."

"Didn't you complain to the neighbors that he wasn't giving you enough money?"

"No."

"Wasn't there another separation in 1928?"

"Yes."

"You called Mr. Eaton a gambler yesterday."

"I did not. I said he had a stock transaction at one time."

The court was crowded for the hearing.

You be a Man from Missouri

IF YOU REALLY WANT the low-down on these new Nash cars, step right up to the next bright and shining face you see behind a Nash windshield. (You may have to shout—for when those windows are up, he can hardly hear anything on the outside.)

Don't be backward—because he's aching to tell you all. Only, if he talks like a man from California, you be a man from Missouri. Don't let him get away with a thing.

When he claims that engine is so smooth he can hardly hear it, edge inside . . . make him step on the starter and prove it. Cock your ear . . . and feel the floor-board for the vibration that isn't there.

When he boasts about the terrific pick-up of the new Nash engine—just ride with him up to the next red light. Watch his fingers flick that gear-shift*—feel that cushion behind you flatten out.

Then look back to see the other cars!

When he waves his hand in the air then you know he's trying to describe the feeling of the Nash Fourth Speed Forward.* For it's not driving—it's more like flying, and Webster needs new words to describe it.

If you ask about the Nash "Weather Eye"*, he'll tell you how he drove all last winter without an overcoat. He'll show you now how dust, bugs, drafts, are spirited away forever. (Be sure to see the cigarette trick.)

Just try to get away without him telling about the Nash convertible bed . . . or the special soundproofing and shock-absorbers that only Nash uses.

And if he tells you some whoppers about Nash economy, don't try to argue back. For these big Nash-LaFayette models beat all cars in their price class in the Gilmore-Yosemite economy run with 21.25 miles to the gallon.

According to the people who own it, this new Nash is a veritable "Paul Bunyan" of a car. There doesn't seem to be anything it can't do!

Frankly, in all our 24 years, we've never had such enthusiastic owners. We do hope you'll talk to one of them—before you buy this year.

And you can't spend much less for a new car—for ten Nash models are priced next to the lowest!

FIN. COM. HITS CITY HOSPITAL BOARD

In what it described as "clarifying information" in connection with its censure of the City Hospital nursing situation, the Finance Commission today directed criticism against the hospital trustees.

The commission believes, it said in a new report to Mayor Tobin, that "comment is called for in regard to a public statement from the trustees to the effect that no changes are contemplated in the nursing school as a result of the report."

This was the Finance Commission report of more than a week ago, in which it was charged the City Hospital has become a workshop primarily for training and education of nurses at the taxpayers' expense and that nurses are compelled to spend too much time in classrooms and are overworked.

DENIALS ARE MADE

Much of this was denied by Miss Laura Logan, superintendent of nurses at the hospital, who has been a storm center since she was brought to Boston from the Middle West.

"Having in mind statements made by the trustees in the conference with the finance commission, at which you were present," the commission said in its new communication to Tobin today, "the commission assumes the statement of the trustees means that no changes in executive personnel of the Hospital School of Nursing are presently contemplated.

"The commission would like to recall to you that the report of the finance commission pointed to the need of changes in educational policy of the school.

"It did not suggest changes in the executive personnel."

CHANGES RECORDED

According to the commission, "substantial changes in curricula under the present personnel have already been brought about by the representations of the Massachusetts Board of Registration of Nurses."

"Surely," said the commission, "the influence of the trustees of the hospital must be as great with their subordinates in the nursing school as was the influence of the state board.

"The commission will consider it particularly unfortunate if determination of the correct policy and execution of it is permitted to be shelved as have been recommendations in the past for other needed reforms in management at the City Hospital.

"As stated once before in a Finance Commission report, the high medical and research standing of the hospital has been gained in spite of, not because of, the character of its management."

War Forces Ready for N. E. 'Invasion'

Despite rain and cold weather, preparations were pushed today by the army, navy, and coast guard to defend the industrial Northeast against "invaders" from Europe beginning tomorrow.

Two giant battleships, the New York and Texas, were steaming toward Narragansett Bay from Norfolk, Va., while the submarine tender U. S. S. Holland arrived at Newport, R. I., to supply submarines during exercises off Cape Cod.

Motors of bombers and pursuit planes were tuned up at East Boston airport, which will serve with Rhode Island's Hillsgrove airport and Mitchell Field, N. Y., as bases for aerial defense squadrons.

A chief purpose of the war games will be to test the defenses of Quonset Point, R. I., designated in navy plans as the major base of the northeast coast for seaplanes. The bay at Quonset soon will be the scene of a $5,000,000 development.

The "enemy" will be constituted by two warships, while the defensive forces will be the combined aerial groups, seven submarines, 45 coast guard cutters and other naval surface craft.

WASHINGTON, April 18—President Roosevelt moved today to strengthen the economic and finance defenses of the United States to meet the shock of any outbreak of war abroad.

Chief financial advisers of the government were called into a White House conference to consider a program for economic emergency which has been worked out in a series of highly secret conferences.

Those summoned to consult with the President were: Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, Chairman Jesse Jones of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, Under-Secretary of the Treasury John W. Hanes, Marriner S. Eccles chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, and Jerome Frank, acting chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Ever since the Munich crisis government economists have devoted considerable attention to measures to offset serious shocks to the nation's stock and commodity markets in the event of foreign hostilities.

The administration, according to a government spokesman, will bend every effort to keep the markets open and to maintain business on an even keel.

500 WARSHIPS IN MEDITERRANEAN

GIBRALTAR, April 18 (INS)—More than 500 warships—one of the greatest arrays of rival naval strength in modern history—were massing in the Mediterranean sea today as a German armada approached Spanish waters for spring maneuvers.

The warships were those of Europe's four leading maritime powers—Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy.

At the same time, Gibraltar received fresh reports of Italian and Spanish military concentrations near this ancient British stronghold and near Tangiers.

Acting in close concert, the French navy assumed the task of protecting the western entrance of the Mediterranean while the British fleet patrolled the middle and eastern parts of the sea.

Gibraltar and Tangiers were protected by a French fleet of 16 warships and one British destroyer.

Hotel Statler Strike Ties Up Elevators

was served by Manager Stanley [illegible] issued a formal statement in which he said:

"This morning a group of electricians walked out of the Hotel Statler. They were members of Local 175, the Building Employees Union. They were later joined by approximately 25 or 30 other employes, such as wall washers, plumbers and carpenters.

JURISDICTION ISSUE

"The strike is a result of a jurisdictional dispute between two unions belonging to the American Federation of Labor.

"Hotel Statler has had an agreement with the various units of the American Federation of Labor ever since the hotel was opened and for the last two years has had an agreement with Local 156, which represents service and maintenance employes.

"This union has been granted jurisdiction over all hotel employes, and Local 175, which called the strike this morning, has been notified on two previous occasions by President Green of the American Federation of Labor that it has no jurisdiction over hotel and restaurant employes.

The strikers are asking for recognition, closed shop and a 40 per cent pay increase.

CONVENTION TO OPEN

He stated elevator cabs, wall washers, painters, carpenters and housemen assisting the strikers, declaring bellboys were still on duty and that elevator operators were doing so because there was no power for the lifts.

When the strike was declared there were 700 guests in the 14-story hotel, which has 1300 rooms.

It came on the eve of one of the hotel's biggest conventions, the three-day New England Hotel and Restaurant Exposition, which opens tomorrow, occupying both ballrooms, the exhibition hall and Parlors A, B, C and D.

Last year, according to hotel officials, this show drew more than 14,000 persons and this year 6000 buyers alone are expected at the [illegible].

OLD NORTH LANTERNS SHINE AGAIN FOR REVERE

With hanging of lanterns in Boston's famed Old North church, Greater Boston tonight will observe the 164th anniversary of the famous Lexington and Concord battles and the march of the British troops.

The ceremony at the Old North church marks the eve of the April 19th battle, when Americans have celebrated as a legal holiday in Massachusetts since 1894.

Eight cities and towns will join in the ceremony with parades and other observances while nearly a million people will line high ways to see the re-enactment of the famous rides which warned the British are coming. Those communities include Boston and Concord and Lexington, and Cambridge and Arlington and Medford, and Somerville and Brookline.

COLONIAL 'MIKADO'--Reviews--OPERA HOUSE 'THE WOMEN'

Gala Reception For Classic

By PEGGY DOYLE

No less welcome than the flowers that should be blooming this inhibited spring is the celebrated D'Oyly Carte Opera Company of London. Last night at the Colonial, it inaugurated a four-week engagement with a spirited performance of that verdant Victorian classic "The Mikado."

A doting Savoyard audience, composed largely of fashionably attired Emmanuel alumnae, reacted with such rafter-lifting enthusiasm as is strictly reserved for Gilbert and Sullivan nights.

From the instant of the first entrance Martyn Green, the excellent Ko-Ko, proved a first-rate executioner of Titipu, and the customers in the palm of his waving hand.

His 'They Never Will Be Missed' aria was encored again and again. Some of us were surprised that he didn't take a lyrical fling at the local political situation. Perhaps, he will next Friday when "The Mikado" is to be repeated and by which time the wisenheimers may have told him what's what.

Another G and S stalwart Sydney Granville, was pretty much of all right as Pooh-Bah, complacent Lord High Everything Else.

Viola Wilson's Yum-Yum, while not stream-lined, appeared to pack plenty of yumph with the audience, obviously well-seasoned in the Savoyard tradition. An uncalculated Westmorland Yum-Yum would doubtless throw the whole production out of kilter.

Yum-Yum's two sisters, Pitti-Sing and Peep-Bo, are also well-upholstered and warmly received by the patrons.

Topping the three in avoirdupois and amativeness, however is Katisha, self admittedly "an acquired taste" and in love with Nanki Poo who loves Yum-Yum. Evelyn Gardiner's Katisha is broadly humorous and a major contribution to the production's merriment.

Not to be missed in the summing up of the company's excellent performances is Darrell Fancourt's Mikado of Japan, whose pouter-pigeon pomposity is matched only by his eye-for-an-eye sense of justice.

Broadway Hit at Popular Prices Delights Audience

By HARRIS MORGAN

Shouts of shocked hilarity rebounded from the remote rafters and rococo boxes of the Boston Opera House as "The Women," Clare Boothe's catty commentary on catty women made its return to Boston last night.

Bringing a Broadway hit back a year after its original visit at double top prices seems to be an excellent idea. Not only does it ease the actor-unemployment situation but it also brings to the theater a vast new audience.

Last night's audience differed in many respects from that of the usual opening. Ermine and mink were conspicuous by their absence. The patrons were less sophisticated than the usual first nighters which does not mean that they didn't appreciate all the dirty of the divorcee set quips.

They did indeed. They also reacted just as the author intended to the bitchy dialogue she gave her male ladies. She would have been pleased to hear the hiss from the balcony directed at Sylvia at one point.

The cast which brought "The Women" back is essentially the same one which was here a year ago. Lois Wilson, as the wife who divorced an erring husband but never meant it, is excellent. Of the thirty-nine other women in the cast (which has no men) it would be difficult to mention those that are outstanding.

The principal change in the cast is in the role of Crystal Allen, the blonde siren who snatches the husband Delma Byron, who came to Broadway by way of Hollywood is a distinct addition.

Delma, who deserted pictures for the stage (reversing the usual order) is "spunky as a painted wagon", to quote the cowboy who strikes her fancy after she has got her man.

"The Story of Vernon and Irene Castle," RKO Radio's tuneful cavalcade of songs and dances based on the colorful lives of the world's foremost dance team during the period just prior to the World War starring Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers will have its preview presentations today on the screen at Keith Memorial.

The spectacular and melodic attraction will be shown at 5:30, 7:30 this afternoon and at 7:30 and 10 o'clock this evening. Walt Disney's all new Technicolor revue, featuring "The Practical Pig," has been added to the program as an extra feature.

Bette Davis returns to the screen as star of "Dark Victory," top feature on the new program opening tomorrow at the Metropolitan. "Stolen Money," will be the companion picture. Doors will open for the first show tomorrow at 9:15.

In "Dark Victory," Miss Davis is said to have the finest role she has ever played. The story is a poignantly tender love story in which Bette portrays a gay and popular leader of a hard-riding, hard-drinking social set. She falls in love with a brilliant young doctor, but theirs is no ordinary romance for unknown to the girl, the doctor has diagnosed her illness as one from which she cannot recover. The young doctor is played by George Brent.

The New York Central: Taxation Is Ruination!

IF TAXES [illegible] business will not only fall but will be ANNIHILATED in a short time.

And when there is no business there is NO WORK.

The history of the New York Central Railroad for 1938 is a tremendous lesson in the DESTRUCTIVE power of New Deal taxes.

The following figures are not "dry statistics." They palpitate with the BLOOD OF MEN, WOMEN AND CHILDREN. They are HUMAN facts.

Last year the New York Central operated at a LOSS of $20,254,257 but it was COMPELLED TO PAY IN TAXES $34,239,439!

WHAT DOES THAT MEAN from the human angle? Just this: If there had been no taxes, New York Central would have earned $14,085,082. This would have been available for more employment and property improvement.

Of course there must be taxes, but taxes such as the above as a great and necessary public utility are literally DEATH-TAXES.

The New York Central is owned by 61,500 men, women and children holding its common stock.

Last year they received EXACTLY NOTHING on their investments. In fact they have received no dividends since 1931.

Where did their dividends go?

They went into the necessitous pockets of tax collectors.

In other words the LEGITIMATE EARNINGS of these men, women and children went to finance the crackpot experiments of the New Deal and its leaders in every nook and corner of the country.

These taxes are progressively confiscatory. In 1933 the New York Central's taxes [illegible] was $4,944,996 greater than in the normal year of 1929 [illegible]

In 1929 [illegible] IT WAS $37,428,515 against the year's [illegible] AS TAXES ROSE, PROFITS VANISHED.

AND HERE ALSO is the human side of this picture: When the railroad was making a profit it gave employment to 157,975 workers. In 1938 it had 81,000 on the payroll.

TAXES TOSSED INTO THE STREET 75,000 MEN AND WOMEN.

There are, no doubt, some of President Roosevelt's "Forgotten Men."

Further: In 1929 these employees had $283,149,724 to spend. Last year they had only $127,691,240 to spend.

That's the way taxes [illegible] the SPENDING POWER of a people. When spending stops, factories shut down and thousands of shops and business houses begin to fold.

Let's see again what taxes did to the workers.

The New York Central's tax bill amounted to $497.45 PER WORKER in 1938 and to $7.71 a share on its common stock.

That means less wages for workers and less to spend for the necessities of life, namely, TAXES.

Like Caliban of old, by filching Lilliputians, the New York Central has [illegible] 1,761 separate tax collectors in the various villages, towns, counties and states through which it operates in addition to eight separate federal taxes, five to Canada and one to Mexico.

Nearly 2,000 [illegible] tax collectors for ONE corporation!

LET'S LOOK AGAIN into these RAIDS on a democratically owned public utility:

Real estate [illegible] property and special franchise taxes are paid to 212 villages, [illegible] districts, 123 cities, 204 counties, 275 towns, 25 [illegible] 2 counties and 4 states.

The New York Central Railroad pays unemployment insurance taxes to 24 States, gross earnings taxes to 4 States and one city, capital stock taxes to 5 States, taxes on corporate loans to one State, transportation privilege taxes to one State, sales taxes to 10 States and one city, utility commission assessments to 3 States, State taxes for fishing and club cars to 4 States, motor vehicle taxes to 9 States, [illegible] taxes on public streets to 2 States and an occupancy tax to another.

DO YOU THINK that is enough? No! The tax-monster, like Moloch of old, is NEVER satiated.

There are [illegible] taxes covering such things as capital stock, railroad retirement, tax free bonds, income taxes for lesser companies and franchise and telephone taxes.

That is the real breaking and JOB-BREAKING drama of New Deal taxes being enacted throughout the United States today.

And that is why 12,000,000 of our people are out of work and 21,000,000 are on relief—and are likely to stay there so long as Washington believes in the fatuous theory that a country can be TAXED INTO PROSPERITY.

IT WAS JUST 26 years ago that the Titanic, the biggest, swiftest and most luxurious ship in the world, struck an iceberg and sank with a loss of 1,635 lives.

Year by year, various branches of the government use the [illegible] patrol in various researches, with meteorology tremendously aided under the direction of the hydrographic office. This is the first year in which the Coast Guard vessels are releasing balloons with radio apparatus.

Some of them rise to a height of several miles, fetching weather secrets from the skies which could be obtained in no other way. The condensed argot of the weather wizards enables them to transmit to ships and planes a steady flow of accurate intelligence of winds, temperature, visibility and always [illegible] the murderous bergs.

And weather data from ships is relayed by the cutters to the [illegible] ships, with the Coast Guard vessels an alert liaison between ships and planes and the never sleeping friends of both.

ON MARCH 8 of this year, there came down to Boston a rust cup from the Grand Banks. Two huge white killers were loose on the sea lanes. Within a few hours the Cutter Chelan was on the way up, there, to watch and warn to be followed a few days later by the Champlain.

Other ships have since gone on patrol and the swift liners are being shepherded safely through the "graveyard of the Atlantic," as they used to call it.

O'NEILL PENS FOURTH OF NINE PLAYS

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, April 18.—Eugene O'Neill just completed the fourth of his series of nine plays about one American family. As yet, however, no person has seen any of the finished work.—Ed Wynn, who just was directed by the courts to pay his wife $150 a week, was notified yesterday that his income-tax difficulties are not completed. Although Wynn settled his 1932-4 payments, the Government now wants back taxes for 1935 and 1936 . . . Wynn, however, still can joke about it. "This," he lamented, "is enough to drive a man to suicide. Maybe I'll do it." "Don't be silly," he was told. "Why not hop into a plane and go to Hollywood?" . . . "No," he replied, "I'm always afraid of flying. It's too dangerous."

THE U.S.S.R. never again will be able to conduct a meeting at Madison Square Garden. The Red offered it to the Garden for a July 4 Nazi celebration, but the offer was rejected as was their counter-offer to hire the Madison Square Garden Band in Berlin. Lou and Gus Mosley Warner will announce a new enterprise next week: a combination hair of women boxers.—Now that Polly Lawrence, who was publicized as Brenda Frazier's rival, has been signed to a film contract, Brenda is reconsidering. She had an appointment last week at the MGM offices here.

WALTER WANGER is completely stunned by the rave reviews given "Wuthering Heights" . . . Years ago, while Bennett Cerf, the publisher, was married to Sylvia Sidney, Cerf suggested to Wanger that he do "Wuthering Heights," with Sylvia Sidney as star. Wanger adopted the suggestion, and hired Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur to write the script. Subsequently Sylvia Sidney divorced Cerf, and Wanger, upon reconsideration of the script, decided it wouldn't make a good movie . . . And so he sold the script to Sam Goldwyn.

FRED WARING'S valet carried the band leader's laundry from his Washington dressing-room, and tossed it to a man seated in the backstage-doorman's chair. "Have these back tomorrow," the valet instructed. The laundry was tossed right back at him, by the seated man, who said: "Waring is rich enough to have more than one change of shirts." That man, who had been waiting backstage to see Waring, was Congressman Jim Fay, of New York.

TAKE THIS POLL for what it's worth . . . There are no shaded little figures or percentages to accompany it . . . It may hearten Senator Walsh, whose forthright speech against "meddling and interfering in the affairs of Europe" was being discussed in the fancier bars last night . . . "Our people want peace, not war," said the senior Senator from Massachusetts . . . He would be surprised perhaps HOW "our people want peace" . . . In three night clubs last night, 34 male patrons were asked: "If there's a war and America gets in it, would you fight in Europe?" . . . Only seven were World War veterans . . . To a man, the answer was: "No!" . . . Most of the replies were vehement, and some of them indignant' . . . Such as: "They'll have to come and get me!" . . . "Not me, brother!" . . . "I should say not!" . . .

Perhaps this sort of a poll isn't authentic . . . Perhaps nightclub patrons are a bit on the frivolous side lacking the finer (or pro intended) sense of responsibility . . . But part of casting for the 1917 failure to make the world safe for democracy came about because the American performers glowed with patriotism . . . and all that . . . It would be a very unpopular war if it happens, it seems to us, safe to predict . . . Nor are we discounting the stimulating effect propaganda is bound to play . . . There was no such word as propaganda in the public lexicon until the last war bred it . . . So the folks weren't to aware of what was happening then . . . It's different now.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY.—Faith Baldon, the lady of the furs, will make her last appearance preceding the Worlds Fair when She plays a two-week engagement beginning next Monday at the Latin Quarter . . . Faith will appear at the Beaux Arts Ball at the Somerset the 28th also . . . Sonny Werblin, one of the chief panjandrums of Music Corp. comes to town today to sign the papers for Benny Goodman's appearance at the Ritz Roof . . . And another startling proposed Ritz booking is that of Raymond Scott's Quintet—all six of them.

Huntington R. "Tack" Hardwick has been named chairman of the general committee to entertain the champion Bruins at the Garden Saturday night . . . The famous "Tack," who has almost made a career out of (quietly) doing favors, should be pleased to know that the combination of his name and the Bruins worked wonders in the nightclub belt last night . . . Among those who volunteered to appear at the Bruins' tribute were Billy Payne, Lee Dixon and Frances Grant of the Cocoanut Grove, Ranny Weeks, Lillian Carmen and Dolly Varden of the Mayfair, Ethel Barrymore Colt and Gail and Diane, the dancers, from the Latin Quarter . . . The response was unanimous . . . Some expert showman like Joe Ruben could whip a great show into shape between now and Saturday.

THE BIGGEST WAGER of the Florida hoss-racing season was made by a famous trainer for one of the big establishments . . . He bet $50,000 on the nose of a horse trained by himself in a stake event, and the steed finished second . . . Another post-mortem, and also a "blind note" for obvious reasons, is that the fastest man in the gambling circuit at the start of the season—and well into the season for that matter—was a Bostonian. They slowed him down to a crawl as the season waned.

RATHBONE TO MAKE SHERLOCK SEQUEL

By Louella O. Parsons

Basil Rathbone

HOLLYWOOD, April 18.—I got to me the public isn't interested in the good old-fashioned detective yarns. Darryl Zanuck found to his delight, that "The Hound of the Baskervilles," the Sherlock Holmes thriller, was real money in the box office.

Now Darryl is planning "Sherlock Holmes," a sequel to "The Hound of the Baskervilles," with Basil Rathbone again as Sherlock and Nigel Bruce as the inimitable Dr. Watson. The [illegible] Holmes will be used, and 20th Century-Fox will [illegible] the best of [illegible].

ROSALIND RUSSELL

I HAVE heard people say [illegible] they liked Alan Hale as a [illegible], and what a swell actor they think he is. So I guess those folk will be glad to hear Alan is to have the lead in [illegible] story of the present [illegible] in America. [illegible] is to Bryan Foy [illegible] a German storekeeper who is beaten and [illegible] there when he refuses to join the Nazis. Alan [illegible] of a naturalized German [illegible] he's not to be an American.

* * *

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD.—The Marx Brothers again [illegible] at the Versailles. Understand they will try [illegible] again. Alex D'Arcy has [illegible] his trombone numbers [illegible] and is concentrating on [illegible]. Wilma Marta Eggerth [illegible] Jan Kiepura arrive today to try Hollywood again. George E. Stone is casting Ruth Skinner, Nina Shipman's estranged bride, to the La Conga. Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., actually blushing when Cary Grant kidded him about keeping his engagement a secret. He was at the Ball bone party and danced every dance with [illegible] to be.

GRACIE ALLEN, George Burns and the kids take off for New York for eight weeks: Rita Johnson and Broderick Crawford saying farewell at a spot and so deserted. Actress Ina Ray Hutton, Dennis O'Keefe and John Carroll, Louise Stanley's two ex-husbands and very good friends, struggling [illegible] a soft. Lana Ware's father is headed here from [illegible] to [illegible] the legal battle for her custody. Her present name is Dorothy Stillwagon.

LISTEN, WORLD! —:— —:— By Elsie Robinson

NEARLY MIDNIGHT. For hours the storm has raged along the ridge, skirling down the gullies in great, coughing roars . . . while the pine crests boom in a driven surf against the moon.

Then abruptly, it stilled. And, clear and high, across the world, came the silver trumpets of St. Peter's crowning the new Pope!

St. Peter's! The glory of it, standing steadfast through the centuries . . . unshaken, as these peaks, above the snarling storms! And now the added wonder of this silvery call, breaking the ages' silence, riding the pathless night!

And the still greater marvel that this thing of noble beauty and enduring strength should have been founded on a fisherman's plain faith!

Peter! Jealous, impulsive, cowardly and proud—So faulty that he could deny the Lord he loved . . . and cry "I know Him not!" to save his frightened self.

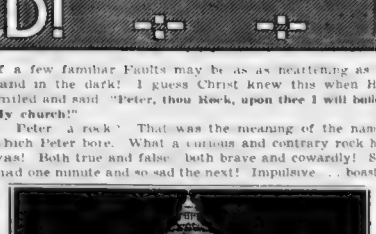
And yet so faithful that that same Lord left His church and children in his loyal care!

FAITHFUL AND FAULTY—never were those traits so mingled in a man. And never did a man so hearten others by his very faultiness. Strange—how we're comforted so seldom by another's virtues. And yet the sight of a few familiar Faults may be as as heartening as a hand in the dark! I guess Christ knew this when He smiled and said "Peter, thou Rock, upon thee I will build My church!"

Peter a rock! That was the meaning of the name which Peter bore. What a curious and contrary rock he was! Both true and false, both brave and cowardly! So mad one minute and so sad the next! Impulsive . . . boasting . . . [illegible] . . . trying to walk the waves and then [illegible]

"Oh, Peter dear, I know that you're a spill! How often I have [illegible]"

Cutting a servant's ear off . . . a flood of rage and grief when they had seized his Christ . . . yet crying that he "knew Him not" before the cock crew thrice! . . . Then weeping hopelessly [illegible] at the sight of his own shame . . . [illegible] . . . the end a martyr's death—as tribute to Christ's [illegible].



ST. PETER'S ILLUMINED DOME
"Clear and High, Across the World"

"PETER—THOU ROCK, UPON THEE I'LL BUILD!"

Of all the words in the Good Book, none comforts me as these. It's such a relief to find Someone knows that weak [illegible] can be ROCK!

I'M SUCH A MESS. I get in [illegible] and so mad—so frightened [illegible] and sad because I am the mess I am. But maybe some day, God will come and say:

"Elsie, I understand the way you are. All full of flaws. Your record's mostly filled with broken laws. And yet . . . because you've been a fool and flop, perhaps I can depend on you to be a ROCK on which I'll build—"FOR SOMETIMES FAILURES MAKE THE BEST SAINTS . . . LET'S SEE!"

Frocks That Are Topped

By ANNICE BRINK

YOU'D HARDLY have a right to expect frocks with topping jacket or coat at the price which is set on these two distinctly intriguing numbers we've chosen today.

But there they are a navy tilted redingote over a bush-tailed crepe, and a short tight jacket over a Dutch boy rumble waist with a buttoned onto a blouse.

Left, dusty maize rayon has delightfully pretty details like a tucked bodice with front buttons that eternally flattering [illegible] line. Note the [illegible] package of the [illegible] and fitted coat. The [illegible] an all-a-weave [illegible] in interesting [illegible] sizes 12 20 and [illegible].

Right, the [illegible] can start a [illegible] had that continued until the closing session fell [illegible].

This Dutch boy affair [illegible] its short fitted [illegible] and its button on skirt would look [illegible] cute with [illegible] from [illegible] Dutch bonnets [illegible] wearing such. The model [illegible] in [illegible] crepe in green and white polka dots trimmed with luggage. Also in red and white, navy and white, $17.95.

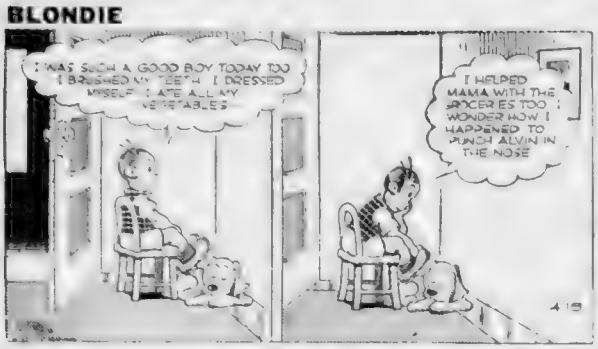
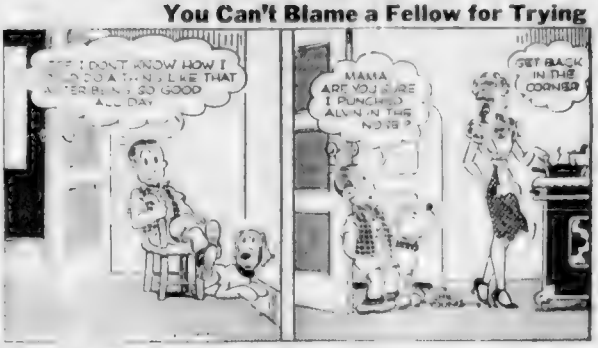
BLONDIE



You Can't Blame a Fellow for Trying



Camilla

by Anne Stretton, who wrote 'PROPOSAL'

"You are keeping me here, Camilla," he said. She flushed under his eyes, moving her hands a little, uncertainly.

Who's Who and What's Happened:

CAMILLA and MARK might have come into a fine inheritance if their father, a famous but eccentric writer, had not neglected to make their mother. When he died he left no provision for his children but a life interest in the house to

GLADYS, who had no maternal affection at all for Camilla and Mark. And he willed the lands of Dore to

SIMON, a cousin. Simon managed the estate efficiently and was like a brother to Camilla and Mark. They had no idea Simon was in love with the day he brought his fiancée

EVELYN to Dore. Instinctively they disliked her and knew that the feeling was mutual. To Mark's amazement on his seventieth birthday Simon made over Dore to him. He stood firm on this, although Evelyn threatened to break their engagement. After they were married and Mark went away to school Camilla met

STEPHEN FULLER, who was studying with Mark's uncle near Dore. Camilla fell in love with him.

By GEORGE HOLLAND

Another Bostonian, Sheldon H. Fairbanks, former general manager of the Boston Garden and nationally-known showman and horse owner, reached the home award last night . . . Fairbanks saw his horses in the winner's circle ten times at Hialeah and Tropical . . . He has shipped seven head, U-Boat, Neon Light, Starflower, Miss Whim, Range Dust, Myrna Lee and Miss Sagacity to Narragansett . . . Sheldon went into a huddle with his Boston representative, Clarence King of Milton, upon his return. . .

The Engineers Club was well represented at the Latin Quarter last night, with Joe Haraghey, the Somerville trucker, and Bill McKenna, the contractor, among those greeting Ethel Barrymore Colt . . . The daughter of the famous Ethel Barrymore received two apples as part of the night's fun. It has been a Barrymore tradition that no member of the family—John, Lionel, Ethel, Maurice (their father) and John Drew, their uncle—has ever enjoyed a first-night without an apple being presented . . . Young Ethel is a consummate little show-woman . . . With an odd voice that needs humoring, the young ster got the utmost from her talent and was cordially received . . . She's a soprano, and the voice has been trained assiduously. . .

THE NEW SHOW at the Cocoanut Grove turns out to be one of the most pretentious nightclub revues of the season . . . The Seven Guardsmen are in excellent albeit lusty voice . . . They have several changes of colorful costumes, and in the finale the production picture sees the guardsmen joining the very, very pretty chorus for a lovely effect . . . Pert Frances Grant, home from Hollywood, made a real hit with her tap routines . . . Emmet Lavery's "Second Spring" will be given a repeat production by the Boston College Dramatic Club at the Majestic Theater Thursday and Friday nights . . . The Fred Hoey Boosters are still working, but fearful that their efforts have been in vain in getting Fred back on the air to broadcast the games . . .

Record Winners!

Here are the bright ladies and gentlemen who successfully answered Paul Whiteman's queries in last week's Music Guessing Contest. These lucky winners entitled to 10 Decca records of their own choosing—swing, popular or classical—were judged on ACCURACY, NEATNESS and INTELLIGENCE in their 20-word letters.

Ten Decca records are awarded to:

Mrs. Walter M. Gorman, 51 Church street, Mansfield; Nicholas Kenkos, 67 Union street, Franklin; J. Henry Dowd, 394 Medford street, Somerville; Miss Lena Di Cesare, 6 Clarke street, Everett; Fred Blackwell, 49 Samoset street, Dorchester; Miss Audre Higgins, 14 Portsmouth avenue, Exeter, N. H., and Miss Helen R. Monahan, 1114 Saratoga street, East Boston.

REMEMBER!

This week's contest, sponsored by Tommy Dorsey, is BIGGER and BETTER. Last week ONE prize a day was given but the response to the contest is so overwhelming that this week NINETEEN awards will be made daily!

Be sure to read Jack Shaw's page of phonograph record news, gossip and reviews every Sunday in the Smart Set Magazine of the Boston Sunday Advertiser.

BIGGER, BETTER SWING CONTEST

By JACK SHAW
Phonograph Editor

Well, our first batch of winners are presented today and the Music Contest for this week moves into a bigger parlor to take care of the crowds.

And may we call to your attention again that we are matching your enthusiasm with a BIGGER and BETTER contest this week.

It's really two contests. They started in last Sunday's Smart Set magazine of the Boston Sunday Advertiser, in case you didn't know. But you can start today—and EVERY DAY this week—to try your skull at swing, popular or symphonic brain teasers and your originality in a 20-word letter on a musical problem.

Tommy Dorsey the old maestro announces he will award SEVEN pairs of tickets EACH DAY to the Boston Evening American Ball to be held in the Boston Garden April 28th.

AND

To celebrate the debut of the smash hit "Irene and Vernon Castle" picture coming to the Keith Memorial on Thursday there'll be SEVEN pairs of tickets EACH DAY to that picture.

NINETEEN prizes a day!

Here's what you do:

Below you will find musical questions, each with three possible answers. Cross out the two you believe wrong, leaving the one you think is right. Then, on a separate piece of paper, write a 20-word answer to the "What Do You Think" question at the bottom. Send coupon and answer to JACK SHAW RECORD CONTEST, Boston Evening American.

MUSIC CONTEST No. 3

Do You Know Swing?

Here are today's musical questions, each with three possible answers. Cross out the two you believe wrong, leaving the one you think is right. Then, on a separate piece of paper, write a 20-word answer to the "What Do You Think" question at the bottom. Send coupon and answer to JACK SHAW MUSIC CONTEST, Boston Evening American, No. 5 Winthrop square, Boston, Mass.

THE QUESTIONS:

1—What band leader discovered Alice Faye?
(A) Guy Lombardo. (B) Tommy Dorsey. (C) Rudy Vallee.

2—What tune was the theme song for the "Texas Tommy?"
(A) Too Much Mustard. (B) Everybody's Doing It. (C) Chanticler

3—What top-notch band is cooperatively owned by its members?
(A) Glen Gray. (B) Art Shaw. (C) Blue Barron

4—Which band uses "Study in Brown" for a radio sign-off?
(A) Louis Armstrong. (B) Cab Calloway. (C) Larry Clinton

5—"Laugh, Clown, Laugh" had in it a strain from what opera?
(A) Pagliacci. (B) Faust (C) Cavaleria Rusticana

WHAT DO YOU THINK

Is the saddest song ever written?

A CROSS-COUNTRY TRAVELER SUGGESTS A BILL TO REQUIRE CAFES AND NIGHT CLUBS TO POST ADEQUATE SIGNS.

A tourist traveling through the East has just distributed among the World's Fair in New York entered the Silver Dollar a famed night spot on Washington street last week. He had a cocktail of the day, a complete chicken dinner, two large glasses of excellent ale, and witnessed a big time floor show lasting over an hour.

On leaving he tendered the waitress a five dollar bill from which she brought him back $1.70 in change. After counting it he collapsed in his chair and had to be carried upstairs for revival treatment.

The tourist states that had he known in advance he would have received so much for his money, the shock and subsequent embarrassment would not have occurred. He therefore enlists the cooperation of other travelers to help satisfy and have the sign bill properly presented to the legislatures of the different states so that there will not be a repetition of this incident in places like the Silver Dollar.

FOR TEETH THAT SPARKLE

DO AS YOUR DENTIST DOES—use Powder

NOTHING else cleans and polishes teeth more quickly and leaves them more naturally white—than POWDER.

That is why your dentist, when cleaning your teeth, as you know, almost always uses powder.

All Cleansing Properties

As it is only the powder part of most dentifrices that cleans, a dentifrice that is all powder just naturally cleans effectively. Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder is ALL POWDER—all cleansing properties.

For over seventy years many dentists everywhere have prescribed Dr. Lyon's because normal teeth simply cannot remain dull and dingy looking when it is used.

No Acid, No Grit or Pumice

Dr. Lyon's cleans and polishes the teeth in a harmless and practical way that leaves them sparkling with natural brightness. It leaves your teeth feeling so much cleaner, your mouth so refreshed and your breath so sweet and pure.

Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder is a special dental powder developed for HOME USE by a distinguished practicing dentist. Free from all acids, grit or pumice, it cannot possibly injure or scratch the tooth enamel as years of constant use have shown. Even as a neutralizer in acid mouth conditions, Dr. Lyon's is an effective antacid.

Costs Less to Use

Brush your teeth with Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder regularly—consult your dentist periodically—eat a diet rich in minerals and vitamins, and you will be doing all that you can possibly do to protect your teeth.

Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder is more economical to use. In the same size and price class Dr. Lyon's outlasts tooth pastes two to one. Even a small package will last you for months.

Kind Word for the Marathon Hacks

TOMORROW AT THE EXACT STROKE of noon comes that unbelievable saturnalia of Spring Sport, the B. A. A. Marathon. It is, by all odds, the biggest, freest and goofiest spectacle of the year in which a million people fringe the highways and watch the sufferings of 100 clinical oddities without paying a nickel.

AUSTEN LAKE

Yet in my sight the human picture is not the broad panorama of front runners as they go twitching and squirming away from the main herd while the untalented hacks trail away in a long comet tail to the rear. The best human picture is the milling, ant-heap scene just before the race, when broad-faced and leatherry men overflow the frame cottage at Tebeau farm in Hopkinton and fit on their race lingerie and canvas slippers. There, jammed together like salmon spawn in a mountain rill, the tatterdemalion mob struts a little hour before going out to woo sick-stomach, thigh cramps, and the sound of frying fat in their skulls.

There in the cammingled stench of stale perspiration, the sickish-sweets of rubbing oils and a babble of strange tongues, these people harness for the horrors. Skins of every shade from licorice black to skimmed milk. Kids with pin-fuzz chins, bald and silver topped elders, fat boys with cushion stomachs, skinny ones with spaghetti legs.

Wholesome Folk Near to Nature

THE REAL SCENE IS THIS GIPSY carnival in a Hopkinton barnyard where relatives of the athletic artisans crowd like herring in a pate-tin—plain-faced people with high hope in their eyes and wearing holiday homespun. Wholesome folk near to nature. Earth-bound people with frames thick from generations of bearing peasant burdens.

There is a social rating even here in sport's most plebian event. The veteran road horses of former Marathons stand apart from the unknown nags, herding with their athletic equals and ignoring the "upstarts" or viewing them bleakly. Royalty in sport has always regarded the steaming masses thus.

No! The best human picture is not the finish line in Exeter street where the waiting horde hails the winner. It is the roadside start at the instant the human pack comes clawing and clattering as though the race was a picnic romp instead of sport's most gruelling grind—26 miles over ruts and concrete, over long flats and humpbacked hills, between auto-wheels and the bottle necks of craning crowds. Then, for a brief flash, the unsung hacks gallop wildly and snatch at glory's coat tails before falling back to nurse their aches. Always some shaggy youth pulls away far to the front, causing the crowd at Framingham to thumb its programs to identify his number. Last year it was a lad numbered 137 who pounded along with a bouncy stride until suddenly he sat down with a burning stab under his heart, his Moment of Glory over for another year.

Why They Do It

WHY DO THESE UNGIFTED VETERANS of failure—the Cyrus Bordelais, Nick Schultz, Will Kimballs, Eddie Lyons, John Maloneys, etc., shuffle off to Hopkinton each Patriot's day for sport's supreme sacrifice, knowing beforehand that the field will be dominated by some dozen front runners—Leslie Pawson, Johnny Kelley, Pat Dengis, Gerard Cote, Clarence DeMar, etc.?

Why? I think I can tell you!

Because this is their annual Big Moment and a year long dream of their working lives. Because it offers a momentary escape from obscurity and a 12-months topic for table talk. Because it is a social leg-up in their community and a remote, whispy chance for celebrity. Among them are mingled a swarm of circus curiosities like Johnny "Cigars" Connors and Bill "Tobacco" Enos, who flatfooted the distance puffing stogies and making faces at the crowd. A few are elderly incorrigibles, like Peter Feles, the 85-year-old grandfather who starts at sun-up and finishes by the light of the moon. Or 65-year-old Al Mendeverdi and others who pester 8 none of the athletic stigma save a restless itch to make their bones ge

It has been going on for 43 years.

TRAILING THE PROCESSION TOMORROW, far to the rear, comes the Red Cross ambulance with Dr. Walter Kendall and his lady aides, who hoist the leg-weary runners aboard and bust ammonia crackers under their nostrils. For, dozens of the Marathon addicts hoof only a few exhibitional miles before turning tourists and watching the rest of the race over the tailboard.

But many others will plod along behind the leaders like disembodied spirits, seeing faces swim past and listening to the pound of their pulses. They are the gallant heroes of the mad parade who swallow their gas bubbles and stagger in hours after the event is over. They are our symbols of middle-class life in a race which is a thumbnail measure of all humanity. The few leaders reap glory and the prizes. The inferior breeds become passengers for the rest of life's journey. But the great body of undistinguished but resolute plodders keep churning on, holding their ribs below the heart and living on hope and imagination.

Far ahead with the leaders will be the refreshment cars handing out lemon halves and dousing them with cups of water. But this year for the first time the American Legion is providing for the hacks, who previously have been left to lick dry lips and swab their burning eye-sockets with their own knuckles.

And long after the police escort has conducted the Pawsons, Kelleys, Dengises and other leaders into Exeter street and the hallelujahs and camera flashes are over, the unsung artisans will wobble home with nothing for their day but nervous palsy, bleeding heels and a dish of free ice cream.

Stout fellas! Give 'em a hand!

BEES-PHILS OPENER POSTPONED BY RAIN

Cuccinello Miller Hassett Fletcher Simmons

Bees' sting is packed in the bats of the above quintet. They're the group that landed on the Sox last Saturday and Casey Stengel is expecting them to provide the punch in the opening series with the Phils. Left to right, Tony Cuccinello, Eddie Miller, Buddy Hassett, Albie Fletcher and Al Simmons.

By JACK CONWAY

The opening of Boston's league baseball season today was prevented by showers and wet grounds.

Bob Quinn waited until noon to call off the clash between the Bees and Phillies. The infield had been kept dry by canvas coverings, but the outfield resembled a pond.

The opening was postponed until the 10:30 a. m. game tomorrow. Invitations to the opening will be honored at that time.

In the event it is also impossible to play ball tomorrow morning there will not be any special opening at the afternoon contest.

In view of the fact many of the seats for the afternoon game have been sold, invitations will not be honored at that.

TURNER VS. MULCAHY

Tomorrow morning's opening game ceremonies call for Governor Leverett Saltonstall to toss the first ball to Mayor Maurice J. Tobin.

Republicans and Democrats will forget their party differences for the time being and join in the general baseball activities.

Casey Stengel still stands with Jim Turner as his opening game pitcher. Hugh Mulcahy, former Brighton High star, will be on the mound for the Phillies.

Lou Fette will pitch the afternoon game for the Bees. So as to enable the fans to witness the fin

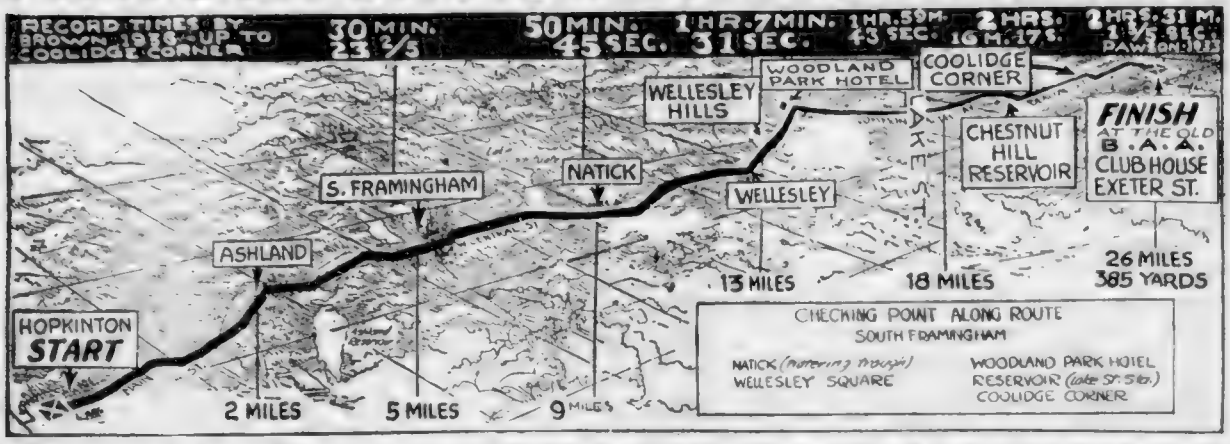
PAWSON CHOICE TO WIN BIG RACE



Over 200 Runners Face Starter's Gun

BY WALTER KILEY

Promptly at noon tomorrow, even as the nearby churches and factories shriek and intone the midday hour, sport's biggest show, the annual B. A. A. Marathon, goes on.

It's sport's biggest show because it affords more spectators than any other event on the United States athletic calendar.

As the field of more than 200 doddlers trek their weary way along the 26 miles, 385 yards, a gallery estimated at anywhere from 500,000 to a million souls, men, women and their offspring, will jam the two-sided lanes all the way from Hopkinton to Boston.

For years police have tried in vain to figure with some degree of accuracy the true attendance figures.

But the task is a hopeless one. Suffice to say that our biggest college football crowds, our World Series crowds, our World's Fair crowds, all pale by comparison.

It's a gala day for the marathon fans, a gruelling one for the contestants.

RELIEF STATIONS ON ROUTE

But an innovation is being put into effect tomorrow which appears to be one of the sanest, most thoughtful and necessary steps yet taken in Unicorn run history.

It's just the little matter of having relief stations sprinkled along the route every couple of miles, manned by Legionnaires.

These relief stations will have plenty of water on hand, where the runners, those in the back ranks as well as the leaders, can pick up liberal quantities as they run by and douse themselves with the sustaining and refreshing liquid.

In past years the leaders have been given all the water they needed. Officials' cars always keep pace with those out front. But the poor fellows way back have gone all out, with none to look to their wants.

Paul Donato, able Roxbury entry, offered Director Tom Kanaly this suggestion during the past winter, telling how he suffered agonies for lack of water last year.

Kanaly, through the cooperation of Miss Adele Fitzgerald of the Woman's Auxiliary of the State House, has been able to arrange for these relief stations and the result is that several of the boys who languished in the rush in other years because they had no frequent shower baths along the trail, may be up there this year in the thick of the contention.

INSPECT ROUTE

Today Dezzy Wadsworth, Chief Marshal of the Marathon, goes over the entire route for a last inspection. Checking with him will be members of the various police departments, Captain McGrath of Station 14, Captain Harvey of Station 16, Lt. O'Connor, representing Chief Toomy of Brookline, and Lt. Sullivan of the Framingham State Police.

The official entry lists as released today included 204 starters, with a certain number of added entries certain of arriving before post time.

The field looks to be the strongest array in many years and prediction of the winner appears to be more hazardous now than ever before.

While Leslie Pawson is this party's choice and may be 1939 prerace favorite, there are at least a dozen of definite possibilities who can dethrone him. And that's forgetting any number of dark horses who annually spring up to confound the experts.

Among the past winners will be Pawson, wearing as defending champion, No. 1; Johnny Kelley, No. 2; Clarence DeMar, No. 7; Walter Young, No. 92; and Tarzan Brown, No. 189.

KENNEDY MISSING

Missing for the first time in a decade will be old Bill Kennedy, the Portchester, N. Y., bricklayer. The old graybeard, some 60 winters last April on his last appearance, won the prized title in the 1917 war period.

Tomorrow's race is one of three which will figure in the awarding of places on the 1940 United States Olympic marathon team. The National Marathon to be held in the Fall at Yonkers and next year's B. A. A. event are the others.

Winner tomorrow will receive the first annual Edward E. Babb Memorial Medal, a beautiful thing of solid gold and diamonds awarded by Edward Babb, Jr. in memory of his dad, former president of the B. A. A. and the A. A. U., a man who was considered the Avery Brundage of by-gone years. President James B. Holder of the B. A. A. will present his annual award to the runner up.

The official train bearing marathoners to Hopkinton leaves South Station at 7.55 tomorrow morning.

Judge Bryan Puts Jockeys on Spot

'Gansett to Have Top Stewards

IT WILL GO hard with any jockeys that fail to ride properly at Narragansett Park with Tom Thorp, Frank Bryan and Sam Nuchols in the stewards stand. It is generally agreed that this is one of the best selections of stewards ever made by a major track.

Frank Bryan is the dean of racing officials. I was once in his presence when he called a famous jockey to the stand.

"You have just come here from Chicago," said Judge Bryan, addressing the jockey, "and you rode very poorly in that city. When you were on a favorite, you usually finished out of the money.

"I know you can ride better than that. You are one of the best jockeys in the country when you wish to be, and unless you give your best efforts I am going to run you off this track. Now go along and let me see you bringing in good horses where they should finish."

The jockey paid, "yes, sir," and departed.

With the eyes of Judge Bryan on him, the jockey turned in some splendid exhibitions of riding, and usually brought the favorite in first. Very few of the jockey's mounts finished out of the money.

At Pimlico following a big race in which there was improper riding, Judge Bryan disqualified the horse of the wealthy Joseph Widener. The Judge insists that all horsemen, regardless of wealth or position in racing, abide by the rules of the sport.

"Otherwise there soon wouldn't be any racing," said Judge Bryan.

Judge Bryan was a famous handicapper like Dave Wilson in his younger days. He was associated with the sports staff of the New York Journal, and then went in for officiating. He has served at all of the Maryland tracks, at Belmont, Saratoga, Suffolk Downs and at many other leading tracks.

Tom Thorp Has Standing as Official

TOM THORP, like Judge Bryan came from the newspaper field into racing. He also handicapped the races for the New York Journal. Tom became a famous football and racing official. He has done much to help the sport at Narragansett Park, Suffolk Downs and at Rockingham Park.

During the Winter months Tom is an official in Cuba and at Tropical Park.

Thorp refuses to give up important football assignments for racing and his contracts permit him to officiate in gridiron games during the Fall.

Thorp has the respect of the public as well as everybody connected with racing.

Sam Nuchols comes from the Kentucky school of racing. He has served at Narragansett Park before and has always given satisfaction.

Frank Thorp and Nuchols will arrive at the Pawtucket track the latter part of the week and will agree on their policies for the 15-day meeting that opens on Saturday.

Judge James F. Dooley has received word from Racing Secretary Bob Shirley that there will be more than 1200 horses at Narragansett Park when the bugle sounds for the first race on Saturday.

Random Shots at Target

THE RACING Commission still has 60 nights of dog racing to assign to one of the Bay State tracks . . . These extra nights are available on account of the fact horse and dog racing were voted out of Hampden County . . . It is unlikely that there will be a 30-day race meeting at Great Barrington this year . . . An effort was made to organize a running horse meeting at Great Barrington but it has failed . . . It is likely the Great Barrington will have six days of racing in connection with a fair.

Gus Sonnenberg's left arm left side and left side of his face were partly paralyzed for several days following his recent bout with Steve Casey . . . The Dynamiter was unconscious until 4 a. m. the morning after the match . . . If Sonnenberg fails to win in his bout with Mayes McLain at the Garden a week from Thursday night, Paul Rowser should insist that the former champion keep his promise to quit the mat game.

Crown New Ring Champ Tonight

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 18 (AP)—A new ring for the now leaderless featherweight division will be crowned here tonight in the Rhode Island auditorium.

Joey Archibald, from nearby Pawtucket, and Leo Rodak of Chicago, cream of the 126-pound crop, will battle it out over the 15-round route for the title vacated last year by Henry Armstrong, who stands alone in boxing history as the only man ever to hold three championships at one and the same time.

Archibald, who has been coming along fast in the last two years, is recognized as champion in New York State. Rodak is the No. 1 man on the books of the National Boxing Association. Both bodies have agreed to crown tonight's winner as world's champion. Hence the situation, badly muddled since Armstrong gave up the title shortly after winning it from Petey Sarron two years ago, will be cleared up and the 126-pounders will have an official ruler again.

Rodak, veteran of many boxing campaigns and the better boxer of the pair, was a 5 to 6 favorite in the betting, although all indications are it will be an even money fight when the boys go to the post.

Promoter Manny Almeida looks for a sell-out of 7500 and a gate of $30,000, but all concerned, including the managers of both fighters will be delighted if the house grosses between $20,000 and $25,000.

It will be Rhode Island's first championship fight. The governor of the state will be at the ringside and so will the governor of Connecticut. Gene Tunney, former heavyweight champion, also has made a reservation.

Pacino Whips Jim Griffin

Larry Pacino, Roxbury, punched out a victory over Jim Griffin, Lawrence, to win the 160-pound division in the Diamond Ring amateur bouts eliminations at the Boston Arena before 3000 fans.

It was only the second fight for Pacino—newcomer to pure ring wars—but he dropped the veteran Griffin seven times, five times in the second round and twice in the third—to take a decision and prove one of the standouts in the Irish-American A. A. show which produced eight knockouts.

There were two defaults in the final bouts, one brought about when Leo Gauthier could not face Alex Belushko because of a hand injury.

The paid attendance was 1692, the gross $852 and the net $1242.

JOE LOUIS STOPS ROPER IN FIRST

LOS ANGELES, April 18 (AP)—Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis knocked out Jack Roper in one round, but before the two minutes and 20 seconds of the match were over 25,000 fight fans were in a frenzy at the savage exchange of blows.

Louis, the master killer, sent the 36-year-old challenger to the floor after a barrage of rights and lefts to the head that dumped him in his own corner, helpless to get up before Referee George Blake finished the ten count.

California's first heavyweight championship in 30 years was as wild as it was brief, as the old war horse waded in at the start and lived up to his promise to punch it out with the deadliest puncher in the ring today.

He punched as long as he could, but the fury of an aroused Louis, stung by Black Jack's famed left hook, brought disaster.

Battered into his corner, Roper was trying to crawl up the ropes as the count tolled on, but couldn't make it. As Blake finished Roper slumped over forward to the canvas again and had to be dragged to his stool.

The crowd was in a state of intense excitement as the fighters entered the ring shortly before 10 p. m. The principals lost no time setting fire to the tensity.

ROPER SCORES FIRST

Louis and Roper walked slowly from their corners at the opening bell. Fully 20 seconds passed with neither offering a threat. Roper jabbed first, a weak blow that touched Louis' chin lightly. Joe stepped back, jabbed, and Roper moved in, pushing the champion toward the ropes. Louis countered with a hard left hook, and as they banged away in close quarters, Roper suddenly backed up a step and let fly three lefts that smashed over the side of Louis' head.

Louis closed in with a furious assault, and as they parted Roper's eye spurted blood. Again, however, old Jack moved into the range of Joe's fists, and as his corner yelled for him to keep away, he wrestled Louis toward the roped corner.

Louis, a snarling killer by this time, unleashed the knockout attack. Four rights and as many terrific left hooks landed on Roper's head, and a final right smash to the jaw sent him reeling downward. A left caught him flush on the chin before he could hit the floor.

CHEERING STARTS HERE

Louis retreated quickly to a neutral corner and the final count began.

It was a perfect night and the ringside was filled with celebrities of the entertainment and sports world. Just before the titleholder and the challenger came into the ring, Ex-Heavyweight Champion James J. Jeffries and other one-time greats of the ring were introduced.

Roper appeared in the ring first. He had a half grin on his face and gave Louis little heed when the champion stopped to examine his gloves and shake hands. Louis was, as ever, a stolid, non-scrutinable. Roper echoed when he was introduced as "Jack Roper, Junior."

Later in his dressing room Louis paid tribute to Roper's gameness and declared belief he would have less trouble with Tony Galento, his next foe.

"I know'd I had two hands and Roper had one," Louis said, "so I felt like I'd beat him alright. I know'd I was hit when he caught me with that left. That's more than Max Schmeling and John Henry Lewis done."

ROPE RAISES JOE'S PUNCH

Roper's dressing room was virtually deserted after the fight.

"Don't let anybody fool you," Roper said, laughing. "That Louis hits like a load of dynamite."

Roper said a left uppercut during the wild melee started him going out, paralyzing his legs. After that he was unable to stave off the murderous punches of the champion.

Despite the obviously one-sided bout, the crowd was as colorful as any which attractions of real championship caliber attracted in previous title events elsewhere.

The movie colony was represented in full force. Wallace Beery, Joe Brown, Douglas Fairbanks and dozens of other big names of the screen rooted from seats close to the ring.

Vic McLaglen of the films, who fought Jack Johnson in 1909, was on hand.

Former ring champions and near-greats were on hand to take bows. They included Tommy Ryan, who held the middleweight title in the days of 50-round fights, J. J. Jeffries, who lost the heavyweight crown to Jack Johnson in 1910; Frank Moran, who fought Johnson in 1913; Al Wolgast, kingpin of the lightweights of decades ago; and Fidel La Barba, Jackie Fields, Jimmy McLarnin and Mushy Callahan, all champions of more recent vintage.

A flock of counterfeit tickets appeared at some of the gates. As usual most of them were for the higher priced seats.

Ambers Plans To Stop Mellody

Reports from New York indicate that Lou Ambers, the Herkimer Hurricane, is not taking his bout with Honey Mellody, Charlestown, any too lightly as he prepares for the meeting next Tuesday night in the feature of the Goodwin A. C. fight program.

Ambers' reputation was damaged no little when he dropped his title to Henry Armstrong and the 135-pounder is anxious to regain a bit of his prestige against the Charlestown boy. The Herkimer hustler believes that New England is for New Englanders and that any attempt by Mellody to crash the national picture must be nipped in this battle.

Although he did not say so outright, Ambers appears to be tuning up for the administering of a knockout punch. With the tussle scheduled for 10-rounds, the New Yorker apparently is set for an early end before Mellody can pile up any points.

Rain Postpones Bees-Phillies Opening Game

ish of the Marathon the afternoon game will not start until 3:30 p. m.

"If Garms can reach first base, Cooney can sacrifice him along or make it a hit-and-run play," said Stengel. "Then we have Buddy Hassett and Al Simmons coming along to deliver the scoring punch."

Hassett has been hanging the ball particularly hard in recent games, and it looks as if he may develop into a .300 hitter.

Cooney will give the Bees defensive power in center field. Neither Max West nor Jimmy Outlaw have proved as good fielders as the veteran Cooney.

Bob Quinn had planned to hold open house at National League park today. In addition to Governor Leverett Saltonstall and Mayor Tobin and their official families, Quinn had invited Attorney-General Paul Dever, State Treasurer Hurley, members of Senate, House of Representatives, City Council former Governors Hurley, Curley and Allen, Lieut. Governor Cahill, former Mayors Mansfield and Fitzgerald, Congressman John McCormack, Bill Carrigan, George Murphy, Park Commissioner Long, 35 out-of-town mayors, army and navy officials and numerous other state and civic leaders to sit in with him.

Official opening game ceremonies will be held before the 10:30 game tomorrow morning. Invitations, issued for the opening game, will be honored only in the morning, not in the afternoon.

Yale Outhits Sox, But Loses Game

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 18 (AP)—The Boston Red Sox put together two singles and an error in the ninth inning and defeated Yale 6 to 5, in their final preseason exhibition tilt.

Cramer, Doerr and Carey led the Boston attack with two hits each, while Joe Wood, Jr., Bease and Schroeder collected two each for the home club. Yale outhit the leaguers, nine to eight.

Will Fete Bruins At Victory Dinner

A Victory Dinner to the world's champion Boston Bruins will be held in Boston Garden Saturday at 6:30 p. m., and all the guys and gals who have been rooting the Bruins to victory this winter will be enabled to toast their heroes and meet 'em right down there on the rink floor, minus the ice.

At a meeting of the committee composed of rabid Bruins' rooters, in the Boston Madison Square Garden Club, it was voted to show this mark of appreciation of the great battle the Bruins turned into an ultimate victory, bringing to Boston after an interim of 10 years the battle-scarred Stanley Cup.

Huntington R. (Tack) Hardwick was elected chairman, taking over the office of rom A. W. Denton, who had acted in a temporary capacity.

Fred Hitchman was elected secretary.

Thomas J. Waters, was elected treasurer. Tommy immediately put in an order for tickets.

Bruins fans and all interested may obtain these at the Garden box office as early as 6 p. m. this evening, and throughout this week during the day and evening hours, at $2.50 per ticket.

Already Governor Saltonstall and Mayor Tobin have expressed a wish to attend, and htey and other state and city functionaries, will pay their $2.50 like all the other boys and girls, will not sit at the head table, and will not make any speeches.

Being held at the Garden, the dinner will naturally be informal, and the head table will consist of the actual team, Manager Art Ross and the lone invited free customer, Frank Calder, N. H. L. prexy.

The dinner is primarily a tribute to the team. There will be entertainment of a high standrd, a few words from the hockey heroes who were finally crowned with laurel, food, music, singing, handshaking and a good time may be had by all.

NAISMITH TO MARRY

LAWRENCE, Kas., April 18 (AP)—Dr. James Naismith, 77-year-old "father of basketball" will marry a University of Kansas fraternity house mother early this summer.

Mrs. F. B. Kincaid announced she would wed the university's professor of physical education. Dr. Naismith's first wife died in 1937.

Buccs Upset Reds, 7 to 5

CINCINNATI, April 18 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates exploded a four-run barrage in the eighth inning, added another tally in the ninth and whipped the Cincinnati Reds, 7 to 5, before a crowd of 30,644 in the lone game of big league baseball's season opening day.

Cy Blanton, recovering after a poor start which saw the Reds take a two-run lead in the first inning on Buck McCormick's homer, and increase that margin with single tallies in the fifth, sixth and seventh, lasted until relieved for a pinch-hitter in the eighth and took credit for the victory.

TECHNICIAN, 9 TO 1, THREAT IN DERBY

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, April 18 (AP)—I imagine that Ben Jones, the trainer of Technician, is getting many a quiet chuckle these days as he reads where the experts can't make up their minds whether El Chico or Johnstown will win the Kentucky Derby.

For instance, the headlines say "Johnston replaces El Chico As Derby favorite," and the stories go on to say that Johnstown like'y will win the $20,000 Wood Memorial at Jamaica on April 29.

The fact that Technician already is down at Louisville, gradually working himself into prime shape for the Derby, is mentioned only in passing.

GENEROUS ODDS

This not only must be very funny to Ben Jones, but it probably suits him right down to the ground, because I'm sure he would like to see his horse, Technician, half-brother of Lawrin, come romping home first on May 5 at good, generous odds of about 9 to 1.

It's a mysterious game, this racing. Admitting a considerable ignorance of its finer points, I still can't figure out why Technician hasn't been the Derby favorite ever since February 25, when he won the Flamingo Stakes at Hialeah Park over the class of the three-year-olds in the South.

The Flamingo at a mile and a furlong is a real test of Kentucky Derby candidates. It is only a furlong shorter than the big race itself. Technician not only came up flying to pass Volitant in the last 20 or 30 yards of that race, but it looked like he could have won by a city block if they had gone another furlong.

WON FLAMINGO

And what were El Chico and Johnstown doing while Technician proving he could go the distance? They were, so far as I can learn, sitting around their stalls up here and munching oats and pointing to their records for 1938. The experts were arguing about whether El Chico could run more than six furlongs without a stop at the pits for refueling.

Technician's illustrious half-brother, Lawrin, sneaked up on them the same day last year. He won the Flamingo, and when he got around to the Derby he won that, too, much to the incredulous surprise of the form players.

All I know is that Ben Jones, who raised and trained both horses, told me just prior to this year's Flamingo that he considered Technician as good a nag as Lawrin had been at the same stage of his career. He since has been quoted less enthusiastically about the young un, but I'll still take what he said the first time.

N. L. Umpires At Vine Street

The second session of the Boston Park Department's Umpires' School will be conducted tonight at Vine Street Municipal Building, Roxbury, with National League Umpires George Magerkurth and Charlie Moran the visiting lecturers.

Coinciding with the opening of the National League campaign in Boston, President Ford Frick has assigned two of his officials to discuss various points of diamond arbiting for the 400 aspiring umps which the park department is training.

Tonight's meeting will be the second in a series of six weekly sessions to be conducted at Vine street.

Cape Cod League Elects New Head

HARWICH, April 18—With the election of Charles D. Holmes, Harwich, as president of the Cape Cod League, rumors to the effect that the circuit would not operate this season were thrown largely to the winds.

Holmes succeeds Seth Crocker at the helm.

Tom Whelan, Lynn English high school coach, and Danny Silva, Everett, were named league umpires.

Sutherland Back at Chair

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 18 (AP)—Dr. John E. Sutherland, former University of Pittsburgh football coach, accepted a $4200-a-year job with the Pennsylvania Health Department as director of dental hygiene.

"I never really left dentistry," Sutherland told newspapermen when the appointment was announced. "For the greater part of my coaching career at the University of Pittsburgh I also taught in the school of dentistry. I never practiced dentistry."

Sutherland said he had "no intention" of coaching this fall, adding:

"I'm going to give up football for the time-being, at least."

Collegiate Golf Starts May 5th

NEW YORK, April 18 (AP)—The Eastern Intercollegiate Golf Association, again operating in two divisions, will open its annual round-Robin series the week-end of May 5—6, according to the schedule announced today by Asa S. Bushnell, executive secretary.

The inter-sectional play-offs again will be held at the Woodway Country Club, Stamford, Conn., May 20. Playing in the Northern division will be Brown, Dartmouth, Harvard, Holy Cross, Williams and Yale. In the Southern section will be Cornell, Georgetown, Pennsylvania, Penn. State, Pittsburgh and Princeton.

Fox Cub Top Choice To Win Epsom Derby

LONDON, April 18 (AP)—Edward Esmond's Fox Cub was installed the 19 to 2 favorite to win the Derby at Epsom Downs May 24 in the callover of the odds at the Victoria Club.

William Woodward's American-owned Foxbrough II, early choice, slipped to 20 to 1.

Somy to Hurl For Eagles Nine

Manager Freddie Maguire of Boston College has decided on Sigmund Somy, huge Medford right hander as his pitcher when the Eagles tackle Fordham at the Heights tomorrow.

With his squad restored to its normal personnel by candidates who failed to make the southern trip, Coach Freddie Maguire dismissed all thoughts of the recent tour and conducted a lengthy batting session in preparation for tomorrow's game against Fordham.

According to the players the frigid weather was encountered all through the eight-day jaunt. On two occasions the low temperature prompted abbreviated contests. The B. C. A. A. was admittedly pleased with the showing of the club on its two win and two defeat excursion.

Gus Sonnenberg At Apex of Career

Gus Sonnenberg has set aside a week from Thursday as the one night of his long mat career. Unless he defeats Mayes McLain, former football star at Haskell Indian Institute at the Boston Garden he will forsake the mat game that has made him thousands of dollars.

Sonnenberg has made a financial comeback since coming East but figures that the best must all answer the call of old Father Time. His test against the Indian will tell the tale. Either he wins or steps down.

Hartnett Denies Jab at Dodgers

CHICAGO, April 18 (INS)—So far as Manager Gabby Hartnett of the Cubs is concerned, he said there is no feud between his Chicago club and the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Hartnett was disturbed by a story from Brooklyn to the effect the Dodgers are fighting mad because he is alleged to have said: "Those dilly Dodgers will finish last behind the Phillies this year."

Martin Ired, Threatens Foes

With his proposal for a new mat referee rejected, Bull Martin, wrestling's most famed bad man, today issued threats to "clean up the ring" when he steps into the Arena square tomorrow night, Patriots' Day, in the feature free-for-all.

For opponents in this Sam Price promotion, Martin will have Chief War Eagle, Canadian Indian; Jim Maloney, South Boston's former heavyweight boxing pride, and Jack Gagnon, former New England heavy boxing champion.

Earlier this week, Martin asked Promoter Price to remove Jack Sharkey as referee. When Price turned down the proposition, the Bull roared disapproval.

"Boston After Dark," by George Holland, appears every day in the Boston American.

No Fence . . . Plunge—Coleman's Cliff, Roxbury, again is scene of accident as ball-playing Robert Judge falls 40 feet (dotted line) down the side of the cliff, lands on jagged rocks, escapes with slight bruises. Robert (right) rests comfortably in City Hospital as Civic League renews drive to rail-in danger spot. PAGE 12

Spray, Pray, 'Ray!—As fashionable a rider as ever donned a red coat and cried "Yoicks," J. R. Hanbury put spurs to his trusty Sulby and whereaweyed in the Grafton Hunter trials at Greens Norton, England. Then came the deluge . . . with Sulby turning sulky . . . and J. R. H. forced to retire immediately for a dry pair of pants.
